SAVAGE!

Attack on a Lake Shore Train.

Packing House Employees Club and Stone the Train Men and Pinkerton Detectives.

Who Raise Their Rifles to Riddle the Assaultants—The Situation.

LAKE SHORE STRIKE.

Pinkerton's Men on Hand Today.

CHICAGO, June 30.—The usual two car loads of Pinkertons arrived at Root street shortly after 7 o'clock this morning and business was immediately started by the Lake Shore company. The entire Pinkerton force with the exception of a dozen men are now armed with rifles and a guard is sent out with every train and accompanies it to Colehour.

A SAVAGE ATTACK.

CHICAGO, June 30.—At 12 o'clock a Lake Shore engine which was attached to the tool car and caboose, was stopped behind the Chicago packing and provisions slaughter house by a train of cars in front. Two thousand employees gathered in the vicinity, it being the dinner hour.

A shower of stones and clubs were thrown from the windows and roofs of the building. Officer McKegley was struck by one of the clubs and seriously injured. Pinkerton's men raised their guns to shoot, but were restrained by a deputy sheriff. The crowd was finally broken up when whistles summoned them back to work. The train was started up and moved behind Murphy & Armour's packing houses amid a shower of missiles which did no damage.

STRIKERS ARRESTED.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Four strikers were arrested at 3 o'clock p. m., after being fired at by a Pinkerton man. They pushed a flat car in front of a moving train and attempted to throw a switch.

HIRING MEN.

TOLEDO, June 30.—The Lake Shore switchmen are all quiet here. The company is hiring men to go to Chicago to take the places of the strikers, and so far has obtained about fifty who will go to-night.

MILLS CLOSED.

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., June 30.—The Victoria mills were shut down indefinitely Saturday, throwing out 225 hands.

WASHINGTON.

The News of the Day at the Capitol.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30.—The president sent the following nominations to the senate to-day: Hugh Smith Thompson, of South Carolina, assistant secretary of the treasury, vice William E. Smith resigned; Samuel Kendrick, of Ohio, Surveyor of the Virginia military district in Ohio.

Mr. Morrison says that Mr. Randall's tariff bill will increase custom receipts more than $5,000,000 and decrease internal revenue receipts at least $36,000,000. When asked what would be the fate of the bill in the ways and means committee, he said he did not know, but presumed that the committee would treat it as it had treated his bill—take what it thought was good out of it and report it to the house and leave out what it thought was bad.

Broke the Record.

CHICAGO, June 30.—The race in Chicago yesterday attracted about seven thousand persons. The feature of the day was the breaking of the record by Jim Douglas, who made a mile and a sixteenth in 1:47.

New Hampshire Democrats. Concord, N. H., June 30.—Thomas Cogswell was nominated for governor on the first ballot by the democrats.

ST. AUGUSTINE'S.

The Annual Commencement last Evening and a Fine Entertainment.

There was a select assembly at Library hall last night to witness the closing exercises of St. Augustine's academy. The Misses Lida O'Rourke, Lizzie DeWald, Annie Parnin and Mary Laughlin opened in an instrumental overture and the Misses May O'Rourke, Loretta Dittie, and Annie Zoeller played a pretty waltz. The "Gypsy Maid," a drama, was given with much merit by the Misses Lulu Noll, Annie Parnin, Mary Brannan, Sadie Gaffney, Nettie Geiger, Jet Donahue, May Hedekin, Katie Laughlin, May Kelker and Mary Sullivan. The play was in three acts and the young ladies did nicely in their parts. Music interspersed between the acts. The Misses Blanche McNally, Carrie Trentman and Esther Gribben gave the "Hunter's Call," the Misses Josie Fleming, Kittie O'Rourke, Annie Summers and Carrie Trentman rendered the "Fanfare Militaire," while the Misses Ida Bracht, Josie Fleming, Edith Bond, Nannie Kelker and Clara Lazarine presented the "Woodland Pleasures." All the pupils displayed artistic skill and the technique was finished. Miss Carrie Trentman, in a cute costume, sang sweetly "Driven From Home," to Miss Lizzie DeWald's accompaniment. The "Precious Pickles," a laughable comedy, was nicely given by the Misses Carrie Viberger, Jet Donahue, Annie Parnin, Kate Laughlin, May Hedekin, Sadie Gaffney, Mary Dittie and May Kelker.

Misses Mary Laughlin, Mary Mannix, Sadie Gaffney and Nettie Geiger played the "Mardi Gras Quadrille" and Miss Rose Gaffney and Miss Alice Fruste, the graduates, read their essays on "Music" and "Poetry." The essays were in dialogue and were word pictures of rare beauty of style. The young ladies are very bright and reflect credit on the school.

Mr. W. P. Breen made the closing address. He paid a compliment to St. Augustine's academy and dwelt at length on the advantages of education, citing that intelligence is an unerring guide in the affairs of life and it reflects its lustre all about it, brightening and bettering everything.

Rev. Father Brammer gave the diplomas and the Misses Annie Parnin, Cecilia Fry, Lizzie DeWald, and Lulu Noll closed with a musical selection.

The exhibition of paintings, clay modeling and art work was a feature of the commencement and as spread in front of the stage they made up a rare picture. The work is all so fine, it is impossible to specify and the whole exhibition is a monument to St. Augustine's fame. Every branch of education is taught at St. Augustine's and it is a school Fort Wayne can well feel proud of.

ROBBED A STORE.

T. J. Fleming Visited For a Cart Load of Goods Last Night.

Mr. T. J. Fleming, who keeps in the old Kiser stand, is again in hard luck. Last night burglars forced an entrance to his place of business and helped themselves to everything valuable.

The thieves got in through a side door, which is shaded by a pile of dry goods boxes, barrels and such. They were cool about their raid and rather daring to undertake such a task in the heart of the city. A skull cap was left by the thieves and its size 64, indicating that the raiders may be boys. The police are all working on the case but have not a pointer to go on. They took thirteen dozen fine handkerchiefs, a coat and vest, three watches and a whole lot of trinkets, aggregating in value $150.

The Horne-Mounsr Wedding.

Yesterday afternoon at Andrews, occurred the marriage of Mr. Nelson D. Mounsr, of this city and Miss Bessie Horne, of Lafayette. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's brother in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. Thomas Baile, of this city, acted as best man to the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Mounsr arrived in the city last evening and were at once driven to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ott Patterson, on Holman street, where they have fitted up handsome apartments. During the evening a large number of the groom's friends dropped in to congratulate him on his new departure, but nothing approaching a formal reception was given. The happy couple were remembered with many elegant presents.

A petition is being circulated asking Congressman Fort again to run for congress.

BURIED ALIVE.

Terrible Accident at Alms & Doepke's New Building.

CINCINNATI, June 30.—At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon a gang of telephone "construction" hands were working in the cellar of Alms & Doepke's new building, southeast corner of Hunt and Main streets, bracing up a pole. The earth had been dug away from the pole, leaving it poorly supported, and the men were remedying this.

All at once the sides of the cellar caved in, burying several men, while the others had a narrow escape.

Pat Murphy, the foreman, was dragged out, slightly hurt.

Charles Foster, superintendent of construction, was also rescued. He is badly hurt internally.

Geo. Lutz, living at 81 Wayne street, has just been taken from the fallen sand bank. He is still alive, though seriously injured.

Lutz's left leg is broken. He escaped death by getting between two heavy planks, which kept the sand from him.

CRIMINAL PRACTICE.

A Sensational Abortion at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 30.—Silas M. White, a prominent physician of his school, and secretary of the Physio-Medical association of the United States, was arrested last night for criminal abortion. The young lady's name is Mattie Low, of a respectable family of Hancock county, Ind. She makes the statement that she employed him for the specific purpose of relieving her of her disgrace, and her present condition to-day on her death bed is due to his professional attentions. She says that her lover whose name she refuses to divulge, sent her money to come to him, but instead she used it for medical attendance. She is not expected to live to-night. White came here from Kokomo five years ago. He acknowledged that he treated her, but with no criminal intent, and that his treatment was for other ailments, but declines to state their nature.

THE POSTAL CLERKS.

Expectation of the Resignation of Several Hundred.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 30.—The opinion is general in this division of the postal service that several hundred postal clerks will resign. The executive committee will meet Friday, and there seems to be no doubt that the resignations in its keeping will be promptly forwarded to the postmaster general. All of the members of the brotherhood in this division feel especially bitter toward the chief head clerk in this city, and they are indulging in some pretty harsh criticisms, alleging that he wormed himself into their confidence, and used his position to betray them.

George I. Seney Paying up.

NEW YORK, June 30.—George I. Seney, president of the Metropolitan bank that went down in the Grant & Ward crash of May, 1884, at that time had debts amounting to millions. He was loaded with stocks and bonds of no value and sold his $900,000 picture gallery and $300,000 home for the benefit of his creditors. Building and supporting many large charitable institutions was a great drain on him. He has already paid two-thirds of his debts and has not curtailed his charities. The remaining debtors prefer to hold his security to liquidation.

Shot in a Bagnio.

WOOSTER, O., June 30.—Jack Keefe was brutally shot last night three times in Lizzie Martin's house of ill-fame by Morgan Anderson, of Alliance. They became involved in a quarrel over one of the girls, and after using their fists for a while Anderson pulled his revolver and opened fire.

A Mill Burned.

MILWAUKEE, June 30.—The saw, door and blind factory of Briggs, Whorton & Beveridge at Appleton, burned last night. Loss, $65,000; insurance, $30,000.

BLEW UP

The British House of Commons.

This Time It Was Not the Irish Dynamite But the Pent-up Sewer Gas.

Earl Derby Replies to Mr. Gladstone at Liverpool—The News Abroad.

ANOTHER EXPLOSION

In the House of Commons Yesterday.

LONDON, June 30.—An explosion occurred yesterday in the house of commons. Everything was done by the officials in charge of the building to conceal the fact. It leaked out, however, in false forms and most exaggerated and sensational rumors about Irish plots and dynamite outrages. The explosion resulted from pent-up sewer gas.

MR. BEECHER IN ENGLAND.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher arrived in London from Liverpool yesterday. He was met at the railroad depot by the Rev. Joseph Parker, the pastor of the Central temple, and his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Beecher are in the best of health and spirits. In a brief conversation, Mr. Beecher said he would take a good rest before starting out on his lecturing tour or preaching any sermons. He is completely carried away with Mr. Gladstone's marvelous oratory.

Mr. Parnell's tour has been of immense benefit to the home rule cause in Great Britain. His speeches have been fully reported and eagerly read. The Irish protestant home rule association is overwhelmed with applications for speakers, and a further contingent of ten capital orators have left Dublin for England, where they will immediately receive ovations. The parliamentary fund of the Parnellites is now $6,000 and contributions are coming in slowly but steadily.

THE EARL OF DERBY

Objects to Gladstone's Home Rule Scheme.

LONDON, June 30.—The earl of Derby speaking at Liverpool last night said he objected to Gladstone's Irish scheme because he believed that after a few stormy years it would so weaken England's hold upon Ireland as to leave only the dismal choice of separation or reconquest.

CONGREGATIONALISTS.

Will Make an Effort to Pay Off a $30,000 Debt.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The Congregationalists of the United States are to make an effort next Sunday, July 4th, to pay a debt of $30,000, carried for the past two years by the American missionary association and the National Benevolent society, through which they are doing great educational work among the people in the south.

UNSUCCESSFUL.

The Plan to Force Non-Union Men to Work Eight Hours.

CHICAGO, June 30.—It appears that the attacks on non-union carpenters was quite general all over the city yesterday, but unsuccessful. It was carrying out the plan agreed on to force the men to work eight hours or not at all.

A Lucky Book-keeper.

NEW YORK, June 30.—T. W. Pearce, of No. 262 Fifth avenue, Brooklyn, a book-keeper, for some time has been a claimant to the estate of T. H. Blythe, who died in California three years ago, leaving an estate said to be worth $3,000,000, has just received letters from his counsel in San Francisco which makes it appear that he is likely to obtain the entire property. The contest is between Mr. Pearce and an alleged daughter and other relatives of the deceased.

CONSTITUTIONAL CATARRH.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the voice, the mind—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope to be relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease by remedies within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untold method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his Radical Cure has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffling and obstructed breathing, and rapidly relieves the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restoring the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

Sanford's Radical Cure consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box Catarrhal Solvent and an Improved Inhaler, price, $1. POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Congress, 12th District,
HON. ROBERT LOWRY, of Allen.

A LONDON newspaper calls the Canadian Pacific Railroad a political triumph and achievement the possibilities of which no one can foresee and the military advantage of which may yet be the saving of the empire.

A CHICAGO citizen talks of transplanting one of the big California trees to his summer residence, near that city. The one he has selected is 300 feet high and ninety-eight feet in circumference. It is estimated that the transportation will cost him $18,000. The weight of the leviathan is about 40,000 pounds.

THE pastor of a colored church at Fort Gaines, Ga., succeeded in having the church debt liquidated in a very novel manner. The members had bound themselves under a promise to pay it, and two Sundays ago the pastor informed them if they did not pay it at once he would turn them out of church for lying. Last Sunday each member of the congregation brought $1.50 and the debt was paid.

A BANK president of Columbus, Ohio, hired a plasterer to do a job, stipulating that the man should forfeit $15 for each day which should elapse over the time in which the job was to be done. The work lacked half a day of being done when the plasterer, who is a National Guardsman, was ordered to accompany his regiment to Cincinnati to aid in suppressing the threatened riots. He went, like a good soldier, and as soon as he got home finished the job; but the banker held him to the bargain and deducted $10 on account of the time lost in defense of law and order. The fact that the plasterer was a poor man and had been out of work all winter had no effect upon the bank president.

CHARLES DICKENS, when at Washington early in 1868, had rooms at Welcker's restaurant on Fifteenth Street. He used to walk out every fine day accompanied by his friend and adviser, Mr. Osgood, the Boston publisher, and Mr. Dolby, his financial agent. They would often tramp eight or ten miles before dinner. Simon Hanscom, the journalist, secured him an interview with President Johnson, who impressed him, as he afterwards wrote, as "a man of very remarkable appearance, indeed, of tremendous firmness of purpose, not to be trifled with." The only invitation to dine that he accepted was one from Senator Sumner, on a Sunday afternoon, when Secretary Stanton was in the party. Dickens was delighted with the acquaintance of the Secretary with his works.

THE Calumet and Hecla Company astonished the trade a few days ago, as well as part of the world outside, by selling a big lot of copper at 10 cents per pound, says the Chicago Tribune. The quantity sold is believed to have been not far from 4,000 tons. It had been lying on hand for several months, the company had been unable to pay a May dividend, there was no prospect of a speedy improvement in a very dull market, and the holders had tried for some time previously to obtain a better price, but without success. This being the case, and as the price named is a higher one than that at which the copper could have been sold for export, the sale was made, without reference to the effect it might have on the market for other producers and whether or not they would be forced into another foreign pool. The price of copper this year had not previously been less than 11 cents, and it is understood that the other companies were holding off for 11. They are now on their beam-ends, to use a nautical phrase, and are nominally insisting on 10.

ARCHIBALD FORBES.

The World-Famous War Correspondent to Settle Down at Last.

Mr. Archibald Forbes, the celebrated war correspondent of The London Daily News, whose brilliant adventures and thrilling letters from bloody fields on several continents have electrified the world, has married and is to settle down at last. After observing the girls of two hemispheres with the critical eye of a newspaper man, he has selected for his bride a Washington lady, the daughter of Gen. Meigs, now retired quartermaster general of the United States army. The happy couple were married on the 19th inst. in St. John's Episcopal church, Washington. Mr. Forbes is now in that city, and Mr. T. C. Crawford says of him in a recent letter: "Mr. Forbes is nearly 48 years of age. He is tall, angular and thin. He has a high, sloping forehead, straight nose, dark gray eyes and wears a grayish blonde mustache and imperial. He is quite stiff from rheumatism and exposure. He speaks with a very strong Scotch accent. He could never go through again what he has in the past as a war correspondent. He says that he is ready now to give way for younger men. He says that there is nothing which will sooner exhaust and break down a newspaper correspondent than to engage as a 'special' in the field. He attributes all of his rheumatism and bad health to the exposure and fatigues of his many campaigns. His marriage with Miss Meigs has been postponed several times on account of his ill health. Miss Meigs is in the neighborhood of 28 years of age. She is of medium height, with a very well rounded figure, almost inclined to be stout. She has a very clear pink-and-white English complexion, dark brown eyes and irregular features. Her expression is, however, very pleasant. Her hair is a golden red. She nearly always dresses in black and is considered one of the finest horsewomen of the capital. She accompanied her father during his last visit to Europe when he was in active service. Gen. Meigs went abroad with a staff a year or two before he was retired and assisted in the grand review of the German armies. He also visited all of the great military establishments of Europe, and made a most elaborate report thereon. He lives in one of the handsomest of the old houses of Washington. Since his retirement he has given a good deal of attention to building plans. His latest work was the erection of the pension building in Washington, though he is not responsible for its hideous architecture."

Ex-Minister to Persia.

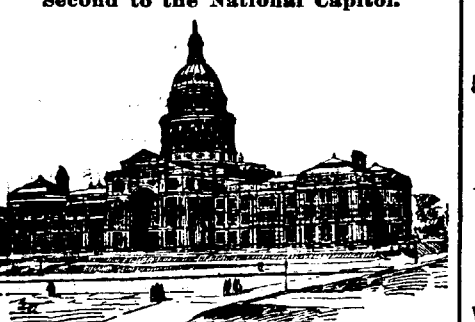

It is not a long time ago since the appointment of Frederick H. Winston as United States minister to Persia was announced. Since that time Mr. Winston has made the long and tedious journey to Teheran, spent a few weeks there, and finding nothing to do has resigned. From all reports it is claimed that Mr. Winston carried himself through the excruciating ordeal of the presentation to the shah in a highly creditable manner, and as that was the most onerous duty he had to perform during his term of service it may be said that he fulfilled his mission.

FREDERICK H. WINSTON.

Mr. Winston is a native of Georgia, where he was born in 1830, the son of a Presbyterian minister. In Mr. Frederick Winston's boyhood his parents moved to Kentucky, where he received his schooling, returning when he was 18 to Georgia, and before he was of age beginning the study of law. He was graduated in 1852 at the Harvard law school, and after his graduation completed his studies in the office of Mr. William M. Everts, in this city, where he was admitted to practice in 1853. In the same year he took up his residence in Chicago. For nearly twenty years Mr. Winston was the general counsel of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad company. His professional specialty is railroad law, and this his eminence at the western bar is undisputed. He is at present the senior member of the firm of Winston & Rhodes. Mr. F. S. Winston, the corporation counsel of Chicago, is the son of the new minister.

Second to the National Capitol.

THE new state capitol at Austin, Tex. When the new capitol of the "Lone Star State" is completed, it will be second in size to the national capitol at Washington. It is 500 feet long by 288 wide, while the national capitol is 751 feet long and 324 feet at its greatest width. The statue on its dome will exceed in height the statue of Freedom on the dome at Washington by 4 feet, the latter being 307 feet above the base line of the building. While it will be 311 feet from the base line to the top of the statue on the Texas capitol. But then Texas is larger than the New England and Middle states put together, and should have a capitol commensurate with her vast territory. This building is to be fireproof and furnished with all the modern improvements in the way of electric lighting, steam heating, elevators, and it will be the full storehouse in height, and will contain offices for the entire executive, judicial and legislative departments of the state government. On the whole it will be a credit to the state and to any country.

A Belle of the Middle Ages.

"Andorra" is an independent state in the Pyrenees, adjoining the Spanish province of Lerido. It is not dependent upon either France or Spain and has been self-governing since the time of Charlemagne. That great monarch recognized the Andorrans because they helped him against the Moors. This little state has an area of about 600 square miles and an estimated population of 7,000. Those who indulge in dreams as to what the future may bring forth believe that it is the fate of modern Europe to break up into small communities which will be self-governing locally while acknowledging a central authority, which would dominate the western world. The most perfect form of democracy known to ancient or modern times was the New England town meeting. The neighbors in the several localities met and managed their own affairs. This seems to be impossible in densely populated cities.—Demorest's Monthly.

Mortality Among French Children.

Leading minds in France have become very anxious in view of the ascertained fact that the population there is decreasing, and, in order to apply a remedy, are inquiring into the best way to lessen the mortality among children in their first year, averaging 18 per cent., and estimated to amount yearly to nearly 175,000 deaths. This has also led distinguished medical men of late years to examine into the effects of the deplorable general practice, which still prevails extensively in France, of putting children out to nurse, and it has been condemned in the writings of many of them. Their aggregated views have been formulated in this conclusion: "It is of public interest that mothers should nurse their own children."—New York Sun.

That Tired Feeling

The warm weather has a debilitating effect, especially upon those who are within doors most of the time. The peculiar, yet common, complaint known as "that tired feeling" is the result. This feeling can be entirely overcome by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which gives new life and strength to all the functions of the body.

"I could not sleep; had no appetite. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling; and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, Ohio.

Strengthen the System

Hood's Sarsaparilla is characterized by three peculiarities: 1st, the combination of remedial agents; 2d, the proportion; 3d, the process of securing the active medicinal qualities. The result is a medicine of unusual strength, effecting cures hitherto unknown. Send for book containing additional evidence. "Hood's Sarsaparilla tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite, and seems to make me over." J. P. THOMPSON, Register of Deeds, Lowell, Mass.

THE MAD KING'S LIFE.

Portrait of Louis, of Bavaria, ALSO OF HIS SLEIGH.

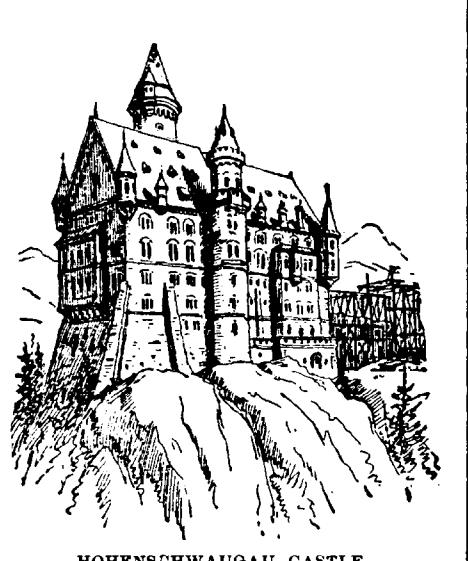

How He and Wagner Lived the Life of the Future, and Listened to Its Music. Six Castles and Four Millions of Debts Left Behind.

It is well, perhaps, that the descendants of great poets, artists and musicians do not inherit their parents' gifts. In the case of the hapless king of Bavaria, three generations of artistic tendencies led to madness. King Louis I, or Ludwig, as it is in German, grandfather of Ludwig II, was the first of his house to manifest the artistic tastes. He made Munich a beautiful city. He ordered imitations of the great art works of the world to be built for his capital, and in some instances the imitations are better than the originals. Riding out of the city in the direction of the Pinacotheque and the museum, the tourist passes through a magnificent gateway, which is the copy of a famous ancient work at Rome. No European monarch of modern times has beautified his realm as much as Louis I of Bavaria did. Then came his son, King Maximilian. His brain ran to science and architecture. He encouraged men of letters and erected stately buildings.

In 1845 began the life of his son, Louis II, that strange, inexplicable life which has sought its own exit from this world through the waters of Lake Starnberg. Maximilian died in 1864, and Louis, his son, reigned in his stead.

It was one of Louis' eccentricities that he would not have portraits or photographs of himself taken. There seemed to him the illustration here given is copied. Louis II's particular fads were music and castle building. He delighted to reproduce in landscape and palace the scenes of Wagner's music.

He had six castles. One of his hobbies was to begin a magnificent edifice, planned with all the accessories of barbaric splendor, and a fabulous amount of money on it, then either grow weary of it or else have the cash fail him and leave the work unfinished. One of these failures is

HOHENSCHWANGAU CASTLE.
In the days when he was in need of a young king and mad over Wagner music Hohenschwangau palace, high up in the Bavarian Alps, was his favorite residence. It was fabled to be the original home of the swans and the swan knight. On the mountain opposite the picturesque old castle of medieval times he started to build a splendid new one. He thought he wished to live there forever. He spent some millions of marks on it, then grew weary of his plaything and abandoned it. You see the scaffolding still hanging about the unfinished, ruined palace. The great Wagner festival at Bayreuth, where the "music of the future" was produced on a scale of joyousness which has never since been equaled, probably never will be, was paid for with King Louis' money. Richard Wagner was for many years the one being whom the king could tolerate. Him he adored. But Wagner was quite as extravagant in his tastes and nearly as eccentric as his royal friend. He demanded new tapestry and furniture for every one of the four seasons of the year. Moreover, he dressed himself to correspond. When he had donned his celebrated gold brocade and velvet gown, he could not live in a room unadorned by orange or canary colored tapestry. Every day he demanded new watches, jewels and snuff boxes, as though, forthwith, he already lived in a Wagnerian future, when a wish and a thought could create the object of desire. As it was, both the king and Wagner lived in our time, and all these fantasies cost money. Wagner and the king foreshadowed the race of the far future. Soon the state treasury was hollow as a beggar's stomach at midday, and Herr Wagner was hissed and almost mobbed in the streets, and shortly took himself out of Munich forever.

HIS SLEIGH.
When Louis rode or walked out for recreation it was always in the dead of night. In winter there would perhaps be suddenly heard a clatter of bells and horses in the streets, and next morning it would be found that the king had been taking his pleasure. He imitated the Louis IV style in his belongings. The sleigh here seen is a masterpiece of wood carving. It has in front a kind of swan neck's head rising to a height of ten or twelve feet. Amorettes fly in front; the one holds a crown, the others bear scepter and imperial apple and garlands. Four horses drew the king along over the mountain roads. Outriders and drivers wore the costume of the period of Louis XIV. The train traveled at a mad gallop always. Sometimes he disappeared altogether, and then the Bavarians lost their king for a while. He traveled occasionally to Paris or Italy incognito. His own ministers half the time did not know where he was. Politics he hated. The one achievement of his life was that he introduced and popularized Wagnerian music. He was a finished pianist. Von Bulow was his teacher. He had special theatrical representations at midnight in the court theatre, at which he alone was the audience. He was one of the most singular characters of many centuries. A strange and very unpleasant love disappointment in early life may or may not have had something to do with his eccentricities.

ANDREW CARNEGIE, ESQ.

Portrait and Sketch of the Scotch-American Millionaire Socialist.
In the year 1848 a small boy with tow hair, a bright eye and a confidential manner applied for employment at the office of a telegraph company in Pittsburgh. He had besides a broad Scotch brogue. He was only 13, and small even for that age, but he had already worked in a cotton mill and "fired an engine in a dirty cellar." His canny Scotch face pleased the manager, and he was taken on as a messenger at $2.50 a week.

The boy's name was Andrew Carnegie. The snobs and the nobles and the titled people who are proud to be acquaintances of the once small boy pronounce the name Carnegie, accent on the "nay."

The tow-headed boy of 1848 is now the millionaire manufacturer of Pittsburgh and New York, the most extensive producer of steel rails, pig iron and coke in the world. He is the distinguished-looking gentleman in the picture. Besides being a millionaire he is a philanthropist and brilliant author. His book on America, "Triumph of Democracy," has attracted much attention on both sides of the ocean. A man with a broad, level head like that can do anything. The boy Andrew in time became a telegraph operator, and he was number one, too. Whatever he went at he worked as hard as he could at it, and devoted his leisure time to learning something else. His eye saw into things quickly, and he made some valuable telegraphic suggestions to the company. Before long he was made division superintendent of the Pennsylvania railroad. Besides being shrewd and energetic, he had been economical, too, and saved his earnings. He invested them in Pennsylvania oil lands, which became immensely productive. Then he engaged in iron manufacture, and the Scotch boy was a millionaire.

Best of all he is as wisely benevolent as he is rich. He gives away every year seven or eight times as much money as he spends. Hundreds of charitable and educational institutions have received his flowing gifts. His latest plan is in connection with John J. Arret to form a gigantic co-operative organization in which workmen alone shall be stockholders. First a co-operative bank and store will be started in Pittsburgh. Next the organization will feel its way to the establishment of great workshops and factories. The object is to unite the interests of capital and labor upon the only basis where they can meet—co-operation.

Oregon's Governor Elect.
Hon. Sylvester Penoyer, the governor-elect of Oregon, is a native of New York, born in 1831. His early years were spent upon his father's farm; but desiring to pursue a professional career, he entered the law school of Harvard university, and graduated from there in 1854. The following year he removed to Oregon, when it was still a territory, and has resided there ever since. He was admitted to practice in the inferior and superior courts of the state; but, seeing the splendid possibilities of the lumber business in the then immense forests of Oregon, he abandoned his professional ambition and engaged in the timber trade, and has been for years connected with one of the largest mills in the state. For a brief period he edited the Oregon Herald, displaying marked ability as a writer.

SYLVESTER PENOYER.

Blind Maud Cook, Musical Wonder.

Little, blind Maud Cook, whose home is in Manchester, Tenn., is probably the greatest living musical prodigy. She is only 9 years of age, and yet when she was 5 years old she was not only a musician but a composer also, and the young-est on record. She has already composed and had published three instrumental pieces: "Cleveland's March," "Hendrick's Funeral March," and "Texas Galop," very pretty, and a song, "Let the Angels In," which is remarkable for one of her years. It is claimed that she surpasses Blind Tom, in that the soul, the inspiration of music, is fully developed in her; and, besides, she is altogether intelligent, having no peculiarities to distinguish her save her passion for music, which she manifested at the early age of 18 months. She is one of seven children, two more of whom, like herself, were born blind, and all betraying the same genius for music as Little Maud, though not in the same high degree. A copy of her "Hendrick's Funeral March" was sent to the widow of the ex-vice-president, who acknowledged its receipt in grateful terms. It is a very appropriate production, and does the little genius great credit. She will be 10 years old in October. Her parents are too poor to give her the benefits of a musical training, or there is no telling what she might not develop.

DIAMONDS NOT ALWAYS RICHES.

How a Few Stones, by Being Reset Often, Serve for Effect.
A gentleman walked into a jeweler's store in Maiden Lane the other day, and handing over three diamond shirt studs asked to have them reset. He wanted a new design, and minutely described how the work should be done. "You have no idea," said the jeweler, "how many persons come in here to change the setting of the gems. A stud is made to serve in a cuff button, a collar button or a ring, according to the owner's fancy. But this practice of changing the setting is not caused all the time by fancy. There is method in it. A show of wealth, you know, goes a long way toward bringing it in."

"Evidence of prosperity is a sure road to success nowadays. I know of one man who has had five diamonds set in as many different ways in one year. The stones are good ones and are worth the work; but, you see, he makes his acquaintances think he is loaded down with diamonds. For a few months he will wear plain diamond shirt studs; then he will have a set of fancy enameled studs, different finger rings and cuff buttons. A man who can afford so many diamonds must have money, is the conclusion people come to, and he is thus given chances to make more money, which otherwise he would not have. Ladies do the same thing, but from a different motive. Of course with some of the men vanity has something to do with the matter, but with women it is all vanity and hardly ever caprice.

"Some of the designs are very unique. The man I referred to a while ago is always studying up some new and unusual design for the setting of his gems. Not long ago he was wearing two shirt studs. The upper one was a fine enameled gold piece made in the form of a man hanging to a tree, with two diamond eyes starting out of the head. The whole stud was about an inch long, and the two smallest of his diamonds were used. The second stud was a little child with an eagle plucking out its eye. The diamond glistened in the eagle's beak at the points of its contact with the child's eye. He had a ring in the form of a skeleton, and serpents for sleeve buttons. He called this his horrible set, and wore it for about three months, when he had the settings changed. If any curious person asked him about it he would answer that he had got tired of wearing it, and left it at home in his collection. That man's fine diamonds, which are worth about $350, have represented ten or fifteen sets, the value of which would be about $10,000. He has spent about $125 in having them reset, and procured about $10,000 worth of reputation on it. It pays, I tell you."—New York Star.

Fruit House Bulletin
Great Reduction in Prices for 1886.

Goods are so low now that it can hardly be expected that there will be any further decline, so that those laying in full supplies will not likely be disappointed.

No more a luxury to buy Teas. When they were $1 and $2 per pound then of course the consumption of them was small, but now the price is so low that a good Tea can be bought at 20c per pound when they come within the reach of all. We are enabled to sell so low simply in consequence of our immense trade. At times we sell two and three chests daily, and buying direct of the importers and selling direct to the consumer, enables us to save our customers the profits of the jobber, speculator and wholesaler merchant which is at least 10 to 20 per pound.

Young Hyson, good, 20c; choice, 25c; best 30c; Gunpowder, good, 30c; choice, 40c; best 50c; Oolong or Black Tea, 20c; choice, 30c; best 50c; Japan Tea, uncolored, 35c; choice, 40c; best 50c; English Breakfast, good, 20c; best 50c per pound.

Old 75 Whisky for medicinal use, $2.50 per gallon; two-year old, $1.75; one-year old, $1.40; good new whisky, $1.50 and $1 per gallon; California wine, Muscat and Angelico, 40c bottle; Port Wine per gallon, $1.25; gallon Catauba wine, $1; gallon Old Tom Gin, 40c; bottle Can ada malt, 30c.

The Daily News suggests to run the
congressional campaign in an honorable
and straight-forward manner, free from personal abuse. Nothing would suit us better. We have always aimed to keep the columns of THE SENTINEL free from
personal and family slush and not allow
ward politicians to dictate its policy and
show abuse on the head of every man
who is nominated on an opposition
ticket. Judge Lowry and Capt. White
are both good citizens and stand high as
honorable and upright men and nothing
would please us better than to have the
campaign conducted on party principles
and on the individual merits of the candidates. Of course this policy must apply to both sides. We cannot stand by
and see our candidates recklessly abused
without a protest and retaliation.

FORT WAYNE, June 29, 1886.

James M. Kane, Esq.

Sir:—I have the honor to respectfully
inform you, that I have been directed by
the executive committee of the Tri-State
Veterans' association to request you to turn over to General A. S. Helms, treasurer of the above association, all money

the above association. In case you fail

fully,

J. W. YOUNGE,

A GREAT AFFAIR.

P. T. Barnum's Show, His Men,
His Horses and His Property.

To understand properly what an enormous show P. T. Barnum has organized
this year, one must reflect upon the exhibition as last seen, when every one
said it was entirely too large. Then think of the additions made since, involving an outlay of over half a million dollars. Why, it is almost beyond the comprehension of a person. As now
constituted, the shows consist of seven
advertising cars in advance, upon each
of which there are thirty men, or 210 in
all. There are over twenty-four advance agents of various kinds. With
the shows are 800 people, and included in the latter are 300 performers. There are twenty-eight tents, the largest 585
feet long and 350 wide; two of 300 feet
each in length, and two of 200 feet. One
of these is occupied as an elephant pavilion, containing a herd of elephants,
clown elephants, and various animals in cush. There are stables containing 500
draught horses and 115 ponies, and over 100 performing horses, besides thirty-
two camels, etc. There is a tent in which the museum is placed, with giants, midgets, dwarfs, skeletons, fat people, armless and legless people, bearded
women, long-haired women, etc., and
others containing the international congress of giants, representing every
country on earth; the wonderful reproduction of Jumbo, the big
ivory-boned skeleton; Alice, Jumbo's
widow; a troupe of Arabs, the Miramba band. Another with three rings, an elevated stage and the great Roman hip-
podrome, with its glorious races and so
on. It requires seventy-nine railroad
cars to move all this material, including
two double menageries, with sixty-five
cages of rare birds, beas and sinewy
reptiles, and thirty-three golden carved chairs. The parade is a grand affair,
and will represent $1,500,000 worth of
valuable objects, covering over a mile of
ground, and will take place to-morrow
at 8 o'clock in the morning.

All Aboard.

A Card from the Daily Mail Whiskey Co.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 14, 1886.
To the Editor of the Daily Mail:—I am
time, through the columns of your paper
as well as through the medium of the leading newspapers of this country, called attention to a simple and effective formula
for a large class of ailments which the
medical profession has intelligently
conceded, cannot be benefitted permanently in any other way than through the agency of some article of the character of a food. The remedy to which we refer is a preparation which can be prepared in any household, the principal ingredients
being raw beefsteak and a specified quantity of Duffy's pure malt whiskey.

We expected through the circulation of
your paper and others in which our notices appeared, to get a large demand for
copies of this formula and our expectations have not only been met to the fullest
degree, but exceeded our most sanguine expectations. During the few months
which have elapsed since the first notice
appeared, ten thousand invalids have
placed themselves in charge of our Medical Department; all these cases received
individual supervision, and the wonderful
results that have been obtained, including
in many cases a gain in weight from ten to twenty-five pounds, not only a simple
have appeared in the papers, has also led
to the use of this formula by thousands
with whom we are not in communication,
friends of our patients. The wonderful
success of this formula is due principally
to the peculiar properties of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. The range of action of
this remedy comprises all lung, stomach,
bowel affections and weakened conditions
of the nervous system.</

The entire Pinkerton force with the exception of a dozen men are now armed with rifles and a guard is sent out with every train and accompanies it to Colehour.

A SAVAGE ATTACK.

CHICAGO, June 30.—At 12 o'clock a Lake Shore engine which was attached to the tool car and caboose, was stopped behind the Chicago packing and provisions slaughter house by a train of cars in front. Two thousand employees gathered in the vicinity, it being the dinner hour.

A shower of stones and clubs were thrown from the windows and roofs of the building. Officer McKegley was struck by one of the clubs and seriously injured. Pinkerton's men raised their guns to shoot, but were restrained by a deputy sheriff. The crowd was finally broken up when whistles summoned them back to work. The train was started up and moved behind Murphy & Armour's packing houses amid a shower of missiles which did no damage.

STRIKERS ARRESTED.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Four strikers were arrested at 3 o'clock p. m., after being fired at by a Pinkerton man. They pushed a flat car in front of a moving train and attempted to throw a switch.

HIRING MEN.

TOLSON, June 30.—The Lake Shore switchmen are all quiet here. The company is hiring men to go to Chicago to take the places of the strikers, and so far has obtained about fifty who will go to-night.

MILLS CLOSED.

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., June 30.—The Victoria mills were shut down indefinitely Saturday, throwing out 225 hands.

WASHINGTON.

The News of the Day at the Capitol.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30.—The president sent the following nominations to the senate to-day: Hugh Smith Thompson, of South Carolina, assistant secretary of the treasury, vice William E. Smith resigned; Samuel Kendrick, of Ohio, Surveyor of the Virginia military district in Ohio.

Mr. Morrison says that Mr. Randall's tariff bill will increase custom receipts more than $5,000,000 and decrease internal revenue receipts at least $36,000,000. When asked what would be the fate of the bill in the ways and means committee, he said he did not know, but presumed that the committee would treat it as it had treated his bill—take what it thought was good out of it and report it to the house and leave out what it thought was bad.

Broke the Record.

CHICAGO, June 30.—The race in Chicago yesterday attracted about seven thousand persons. The feature of the day was the breaking of the record by Jim Douglas, who made a mile and a sixteenth in 1:17.

New Hampshire Democrats.

CONCORD, N. H., June 30.—Thomas Cogswell was nominated for governor on the first ballot by the democrats.

ST. AUGUSTINE'S.

The Annual Commencement last Evening and a Fine Entertainment.

There was a select assembly at Library hall last night to witness the closing exercises of St. Augustine's academy. The Misses Lida O'Rourke, Lizzie DeWald, Annie Parnin and Mary Laughlin opened in an instrumental overture and the Misses May O'Rourke, Loretta Dittoe, and Annie Zoeller played a pretty waltz. The "Gypsy Maid," a drama, was given with much merit by the Misses Lulu Noll, Annie Parnin, Mary Brauman, Sadie Gaffney, Nettie Geiger, Jet Donahue, May Hedekin, Katie Laughlin, May Kelker and Mary Sullivan. The play was in three acts and the young ladies did nicely in their parts. Music interspersed between the acts. The Misses Blanche McNally, Carrie Trentman and Esther Gribben gave the "Hunter's Call," while the Misses Ida Bracht, Josie Fleming, Edith Bond, Nannie Kelker and Clara Laxarino presented the "Woodland Pleasures." All the pupils displayed artistic skill and the technique was finished. Miss Carrie Trentman, in a cute costume, sang sweetly "Driven From Home," to Miss Lizzie DeWald's accompaniment. The "Precious Pickles," a laughable comedy, was nicely given by the Misses Carrie Viborg, Jet Donahue, Annie Parnin, Kate Laughlin, May Hedekin, Sadie Gaffney, Mary Dittoe and May Kelker.

Misses Mary Laughlin, Mary Mannix, Sadie Gaffney and Nettie Geiger played the "Mardi Gras Quadrille" and Miss Rosa Gralla and Miss Alice Frusto, the graduates, read their essays on "Music" and "Poetry." The essays were in dialogue and were word pictures of rare beauty of style. The young ladies are very bright and reflect credit on the school.

Mr. W. P. Breen made the closing address. He paid a compliment to St. Augustine's academy and dwelt at length on the advantages of education, citing that intelligence is an ever guiding light in the affairs of life and it reflects its lustre all about it, brightening and bettering everything.

Rev. Father Brammer gave the diploma and the Misses Annie Parnin, Cecilia Fry, Lizzie DeWald, and Lulu Noll closed with a musical selection.

The exhibition of paintings, clay modeling and art work was a feature of the commencement and as spread in front of the stage they made up a rare picture. The work is all so fine, it is impossible to specify and the whole exhibition is a monument to St. Augustine's fame. Every branch of education is taught at St. Augustine's and it is a school Fort Wayne can well feel proud of.

ROBBED A STORE.

T. J. Fleming Visited For a Cart Load of Goods Last Night.

Mr. T. J. Fleming, who keeps in the Old Kiser stand, is again in hard luck. Last night burglars forced an entrance to his place of business and helped themselves to everything valuable. The thieves got in through a side door, which is shaded by a pile of dry goods boxes, barrels and such. They were cool about their raid and rather daring to undertake such a task in the heart of the city. A skull cap was left by the thieves and its size 64, indicating that the raiders may be boys. The police are all working on the case but have not a pointer to go on. They took thirteen dozen fine handkerchiefs, a coat and vest, three watches and a whole lot of trinkets, aggregating in value $150.

The Home-Monsieur Wedding.

Yesterday afternoon at Audrowa, occurred the marriage of Mr. Nelson D. Mousair, of this city and Miss Bessie Home, of Lafayette. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's brother in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. Thomas Ballie, of this city, acted as best man to the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Mousair arrived in the city last evening and were at once driven to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ott Patterson, on Holman street, where they have fitted up handsome apartments. During the evening a large number of the groom's friends dropped in to congratulate him on his new departure, but nothing approaching a formal reception was given. The happy couple were remembered with many elegant presents.

A petition is being circulated asking Congressman Fort again to run for congress.

BURIED ALIVE.

Terrible Accident at Alms & Doepe's New Building.

CHICAGO, June 30.—At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon a gang of telephone "construction" hands were working in the cellar of Alms & Doepe's new building, southeast corner of Hunt and Main streets, bracing up a pole. The earth had been dug away from the pole, leaving it poorly supported, and the men were remedying this.

All at once the sides of the cellar caved in, burying several men, while the others had a narrow escape.

Pat Murphy, the foreman, was dragged out, slightly hurt.

Charles Foster, superintendent of construction, was also rescued. He is badly hurt internally.

Geo. Lutz, living at 81 Wayne street, has just been taken from the fallen sand bank. He is still alive, though seriously injured.

Lutz's left leg is broken. He escaped death by getting between two heavy planks, which kept the sand from him.

CRIMINAL PRACTICE.

A Sensational Abortion at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 30.—Silas M. White, a prominent physician of his school, and secretary of the Physio-Medical association of the United States, was arrested last night for criminal abortion. The young lady's name is Mattie Low, of a respectable family of Hancock county, Ind. She makes the statement that she employed him for the specific purpose of relieving her of her disfigurement, and her present condition to-day on her death bed is due to his professional attentions. She says that her lover whose name she refuses to divulge, sent her money to come to him, but instead she used it for medical attendance. She is not expected to live to-night. White came here from Kokomo five years ago. He acknowledged that he treated her, but with no criminal intent, and that his treatment was for other ailments, but declines to state their nature.

THE POSTAL CLERKS.

Expectation of the Resignation of Several Hundred.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 30.—The opinion is general in this division of the postal service that several hundred postal clerks will resign. The executive committee will meet Friday, and there seems to be no doubt that the resignations in its keeping will be promptly forwarded to the postmaster general. All of the members of the brotherhood in this division feel especially bitter toward the chief head clerk in this city, and they are indulging in some pretty harsh criticisms, alleging that he wormed himself into their confidence, and used his position to betray them.

George I. Seney Paying up.

NEW YORK, June 30.—George I. Seney, president of the Metropolitan bank that went down in the Grant & Ward crash of May, 1884, at that time had debts amounting to millions. He was loaded with stocks and bonds of no value and sold his $900,000 picture gallery and $300,000 home for the benefit of his creditors. Building and supporting many large charitable institutions was a great drain on him. He has already paid two-thirds of his debts and has not curtailed his charities. The remaining debtors prefer to hold his security to liquidation.

Shot in a Bagnio.

WOODSTOCK, O., June 30.—Jack Keefe was brutally shot last night three times in Lizzie Martin's house of ill-fame by Morgan Anderson, of Alliance. They became involved in a quarrel over one of the girls, and after using their fists for a while Anderson pulled his revolver and opened fire.

A Mill Burned.

Earl Derby Replies to Mr. Gladstone at Liverpool—The News Abroad.

ANOTHER EXPLOSION

In the House of Commons Yesterday.

LONDON, June 30.—An explosion occurred yesterday in the house of commons. Everything was done by the officials in charge of the building to conceal the fact. It leaked out, however, in false forms and most exaggerated and sensational rumors about Irish plots and dynamite outrages. The explosion resulted from pent-up sewer gas.

MR. BEECHER IN ENGLAND.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher arrived in London from Liverpool yesterday. He was met at the railroad depot by the Rev. Joseph Parker, the pastor of the Central temple, and his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Beecher are in the best of health and spirits. In a brief conversation, Mr. Beecher said he would take a good rest before starting out on his lecturing tour or preaching any sermons. He is completely carried away with Mr. Gladstone's marvelous oratory.

Mr. Parnell's tour has been of immense benefit to the home rule cause in Great Britain. His speeches have been fully reported and eagerly read. The Irish protestant home rule association is overwhelmed with applications for speakers, and a further contingent of ten capital orators have left Dublin for England, where they will immediately receive ovations. The parliamentary fund of the Parnellites is now $6,000 and contributions are coming in slowly but steadily.

THE EARL OF DERBY

Objects to Gladstone's Home Rule Scheme.

LONDON, June 30.—The earl of Derby speaking at Liverpool last night said he objected to Gladstone's Irish scheme because he believed that after a few stormy years it would so weaken England's hold upon Ireland as to leave only the dismal choice of separation or reconquest.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The Congregationalists of the United States are to make an effort next Sunday, July 4th, to pay a debt of $30,000, carried for the past two years by the American missionary association and the National Benevolent society, through which they are doing great educational work among the people in the south.

UNSUCCESSFUL.

The Plan to Force Non-Union Men to Work Eight Hours.

CHICAGO, June 30.—It appears that the attacks on non-union carpenters was quite general all over the city yesterday, but unsuccessful. It was carrying out the plan agreed on to force the men to work eight hours or not at all.

A Lucky Book-keeper.

NEW YORK, June 30.—T. W. Pearce, of No. 262 Fifth avenue, Brooklyn, a book-keeper, for some time has been a claimant to the estate of T. H. Blythe, who died in California three years ago, leaving an estate said to be worth $3,000,000, has just received letters from his counsel in San Francisco which makes it appear that he is likely to obtain the entire property. The contest is between Mr. Pearce and an alleged daughter and other relatives of the dead millionaire.

THE MAD KING'S LIFE.
PORTRAIT OF LOUIS, OF BAVARIA, ALSO OF HIS SLEIGH.

How He and Wagner Lived the Life of the Future, and Listened to Its Music. Six Castles and Four Millions of Debts Left Behind.

It is well, perhaps, that the descendants of great poets, artists and musicians do not inherit their parents' gifts. In the case of the hapless king of Bavaria, three generations of artistic tendencies led to madness. King Louis I., or Ludwig, as it is in German, grandfather of Ludwig II., was the first of his house to manifest the artistic taste. He made Munich a beautiful city. He ordered imitations of the great art works of the world to be built for his capital, and in some instances the imitations are better than the originals. Lying out of the city in the direction of the Pinacothek library and museum, the tourist passes through a magnificent gateway, which is the copy of a famous ancient work at Rome. No European monarch of modern times has beautified his realm as much as Louis I. of Bavaria did. Then came his son, King Maximilian. His brain ran to science and architecture. He encouraged men of letters and erected stately buildings.

LOUIS II OF BAVARIA.
In 1845 began the life of his son, Louis II, that strange, inexplicable life which has sought its own exit from this world through the waters of Lake Starnberg. Maximilian died in 1861, and Louis, his son, reigned in his stead. It was one of Louis' eccentricities that he would not have portraits or photographs of himself taken. There seems to have been only one in existence, that from which the illustration here given is copied. Louis II's particular fads were music and castle building. He delighted to reproduce in landscape and palace the scenes of Wagner's music.

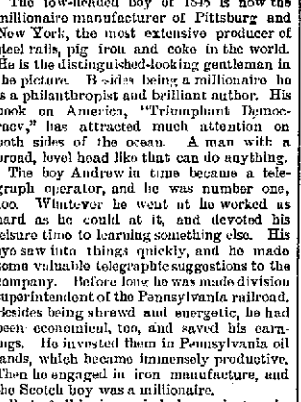

He had six castles. One of his hobbies was to begin a magnificent edifice, planned with all the necessities of baroque splendor, and a fabulous amount of money on it, then either grow weary of it or else have the cash fail him and leave the work unfinished. One of these failures is in the days when he was in his early youth and had over Wagner music Hohenschwangau palace, high up in the Bavarian Alps, was his favorite residence. It was fabled to be the original home of the swans and the swan knight. On the mountain opposite the picturesque old castle of medieval times he started to build a splendid new one. He thought he wished to live there forever. He spent some millions of marks on it, then grew weary of his plaything and abandoned it. You see the scaffolding still hanging about the unfinished, ruined palace. The great Wagner festival at Bayreuth, where the "music of the future" was produced on a scale of pyromancy which has never since been equaled, probably never will be, was paid for with King Louis' money. Richard Wagner was for many years the one being whom the king could tolerate. Him he adored. But Wagner was quite as extravagant in his tastes and nearly as eccentric as his royal friend. He demanded new scenery and furniture for every one of the four seasons of the year. Moreover, he dressed himself to correspond. "When he had done his celebrated gold brocade dressing gown, he could not live in a room undecorated by orange or emerald colored tapestry." Every day he demanded new watches, jewels and snuff boxes, as though, forsooth, he already lived in a Wagnerian future, when a wish and a thought could create the object of desire. As it was, both the king and Wagner lived in our time, and all these fancies cost money. Wagner and the king forewound the race of the far future. Soon the state treasury was hollow as a beggar's stomach at midday, and Herr Wagner was hissed and almost mobbed in the streets, and shortly took himself out of Munich forever.

HIS SLEIGH.
When Louis rode or walked out for recreation it was always in the dead of night. In winter there would perhaps be suddenly heard a clatter of bells and horses in the streets, and next morning it would be found that the king had been taking his pleasure. He imitated the Louis IV style in his longings. The sleigh here seen is a masterpiece of wood carving. It has in front a kind of swan neck rising to a height of ten or twelve feet. Amovables fly in front, the one behind a crown, the others bear sword, scepter and imperial apple and garlands. Four horses draw the king along over the mountain roads. Outriders and drivers wear the costumes of the period of Louis XIV. The train traveled at a mad gallop always. Sometimes he disappeared altogether, and then the Bavarians lost their king for a while. He traveled occasionally to Paris or Italy. His own ministers half the time did not know where he was. Politics he hated. The one achievement of his life was that he introduced and popularized Wagnerian music. He was a finished pianist. Von Helwig was his teacher. He had special theatrical representations at midnight in the court theatre, at which he alone was the audience. He was one of the most singular characters of many centuries. A strange and very unpleasant love disappointment in early life may or may not have had something to do with his eccentricities.

ANDREW CARNEGIE, ESQ.
Portrait and Sketch of the Scotch-American Millionaire Socialist.

In the year 1848 a small boy with tow hair, a bright eye and a confidential manner, applied for employment at the office of a telegraph company in Pittsburgh. He had besides a broad Scotch brogue. He was only 13, and small even for that age, but he had already worked in a cotton mill and fired an engine in a dirty cellar. His canny Scotch face pleased the manager, and he was taken on as a messenger at $2.50 a week. The boy's name was Andrew Carnegie. The snobs and the nob and the titled people who are proud to be acquaintances of the once small boy pronounce the name Carnegie, jee, accent on the "may."

ANDREW CARNEGIE.
The low-headed boy of 1848 is now the millionaire manufacturer of Pittsburgh and New York, the most extensive producer of steel rails, pig iron and coke in the world. He is the distinguished-looking gentleman in the picture. B-sides being a millionaire he is a philanthropist and brilliant author. His book on America, "Triumph of Democracy," has attracted much attention on both sides of the ocean. A man with a broad, level head like that can do anything. The boy Andrew in time became a telegraph operator, and he was number one, too. Whatever he went to he worked as hard as he could at it, and devoted his leisure time to learning something else. His eyes saw into things quickly, and he made some valuable telegraphic suggestions to the company. Before long he was made division superintendent of the Pennsylvania railroad. Besides being shrewd and energetic, he had been economical, too, and saved his earnings. He invested them in Pennsylvania oil lands, which became immensely productive. Then he engaged in iron manufacture, and the Scotch boy was a millionaire.

Best of all his is as wisely benevolent as he is rich. He gives away every year seven or eight times as much money as he spends. Hundreds of charitable and educational institutions have received his flowing gifts. His latest plan is in connection with John J. Arrol to form a gigantic co-operative organization in which workingmen alone shall be stockholders. First a co-operative bank and store will be started in Pittsburgh. Next the organization will feel its way to the establishment of great workshops and factories. The object is to unite the interests of capital and labor upon the only basis where they can meet—co-operation.

OREGON'S GOVERNOR ELECT.
Hon. Sylvester Penney, the governor-elect of Oregon, is a native of New York, born in 1831. His early years were spent upon his father's farm; but desiring to pursue a professional career, he entered the law school of Harvard university, and graduated from there in 1854. The following year he removed to Oregon, when it was still a territory, and has resided there ever since. He was admitted to practice in the interior and superior courts of the state; but, seeing the splendid possibilities of the lumber business in the then im-

Little, Blind Maud Cook, whose home is in Manchester, Tenn., is probably the greatest living musical prodigy. She is only 9 years of age, and yet when but 5 years old she was not only a musician but a composer also, and the youngest on record. She has already composed and had published three instrumental pieces: "Clove and's March," "Hondrick's Funeral March" and "Tuxes Galop," very pretty, and a song, "Let the Angels In," which is remarkable for one of her years. It is claimed that she surpasses Blind Tom, in that the soul, the inspiration of music, is fully developed in her; and, besides, she is altogether intelligent, having no peculiarities to distinguish her save her passion for music, which she manifested at the early age of 18 months. She is one of seven children, two more of whom, like herself, were born blind, and all burying the same genius for music as Little Maud, though not in the same high degree. A copy of her "Hondrick's Funeral March" was sent to the widow of the ex-vic-president, who acknowledged its receipt in grateful terms. It is a very appropriate production, and does the little genius great credit. She will be 10 years old in October. Her parents are anxious to give her the benefits of a musical training, or there is no telling what she might not develop.

DIAMONDS NOT ALWAYS RICHES.
How a Few Stones, by Being Reset Often, Serve for Effect.

A gentleman walked into a jeweler's store in Maiden Lane the other day, and handing over three diamond shirt studs asked to have them reset. He wanted a new design, and minutely described how the work should be done. "You have no idea," said the jeweler, "how many persons come in here to change the setting of the gems. A stud is made to serve in a cuff button, a collar button or a ring, according to the owner's fancy. But this practice of changing the setting is not caused all the time by fancy. There is method in it. A show of wealth, you know, goes a long way toward bringing it in. Evidence of prosperity is a sure road to success nowadays. I know of one man who has had five diamonds set in as many different ways in one year. The stones are good ones and are worth the work; but, you see, he makes his acquaintances think he is loaded down with diamonds. For a few months he will wear plain diamond shirt studs; then he will have a set of fine enameled studs, different finger rings and cuff buttons. A man who can afford so many diamonds must have money, is the conclusion people come to, and he is thus given chances to make more money, which otherwise he would not have. Ladies do the same thing, but from a different motive. Of course with some of the men vanity has something to do with the matter, but with women it is all vanity and hardly ever caprice. "Some of the designs are very unique. The man I referred to a while ago is always studying up some new and unusual design for the setting of his gems. Not long ago he was wearing two shirt studs. The upper one was a fine enameled gold piece made in the form of a man hanging to a tree, with two diamond eyes starting out of the head. The whole stud was about an inch long, and the two smallest of his diamonds were used. The second stud was a little child with an eagle plucking out its eye. The diamond glistened in the eagle's beak at the points of its contact with the child's eye. He had a ring in the form of a skeleton, and serpents for sleeve buttons. He called this his horrible set, and wore it for about three months, when he had the settings changed. If any curious person asked him about it he would answer that he had got tired of wearing it, and left it at home in his collection. That man's fine diamonds, which are worth about $250, have represented ten or fifteen sets, the value of which would be about $10,000. He has spent about $125 in having them reset, and procured about $10,000 worth of reputation on it. It pays, I tell you."—New York Star.

To put a good many people on their guard, it is in order to remind them of the fact that the Fourth of July, as a national holiday, falls this year on the 5th,
and that notes falling due on Sunday,
the 4th, are payable on Saturday, the 3d,
while notes falling due on the 5th are

Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Olerick were married five years ago yesterday and last evening a merry party of lady friends surprised them at their East Main street home. The guests showered wooden emblems on the host and hostess

pleasantly and made the impromptu occasion memorable as a social event.
The Daily News suggests to run the
congressional campaign in an honorable
and straight-forward manner, free from personal abuse. Nothing would suit better. We have always aimed to keep the columns of The Sentinel free from
personal and family slush and not allow
ward politicians to dictate its policy and
show abuse on the head of every man
who is nominated on an opposition
ticket. Judge Lowry and Capt. White
are both good citizens and stand high as
honorable and upright men and nothing
would please us better than to have the
campaign conducted on party principles
and on the individual merits of the candidates. Of course this policy must apply to both sides. We cannot stand by
and see our candidates recklessly abused
without a protest and retaliation.

TALKS BUSINESS.

Dr. J. W. Younge Makes a Demand for the Collected Reunion Money.
Dr. J. W. Younge, adjutant-general and organizer of the tri-state veteran association, hands The Sentinel the following for publication:
FORT WAYNE, June 29, 1886.
James M. Kane, Esq.
Sir:—I have the honor to respectfully
inform you, that I have been directed by
the executive committee of the Tri-State
Veterans' association to request you to
turn over to General A. S. Helms, treasurer of the above association, all money raised or received by you in the name of the above association. In case you fail
to do so, I will personally bring suit against you for said amount. Respectfully,
J. W. YOUNGE,
Adj't. Gen. T. S. V. A.
In reply to the above communication Mr. Kane informed Dr. Younge, that he would not act as treasurer or have any thing to do with the money to be raised for the coming reunion.
A GREAT AFFAIR.
P. T. Barnum's Show, His Men,
His Horses and His Property.
To understand properly what an enormous show P. T. Barnum has organized
this year, one must reflect upon the exhibition as last seen, when every one
said it was entirely too large. Then
think of the additions made since, involving an outlay of over half a million dollars. Why, it is almost beyond the comprehension of a person. As now
constituted, the shows consist of seven
advertising cars in advance, upon each
of which there are thirty men, or 210 in
all. There are over twenty-four advance agents of various kinds. With
the shows are 800 people, and included
in the latter are 300 performers. There
are twenty-eight tents, the largest 585
feet long and 350 wide; two of 300 feet
each in length, and two of 200 feet. One
of these is occupied as an elephant pa-
villion, containing a herd of elephants,
clown elephants, and various animals in sadd. There are stables containing 500
draught horses and 115 ponies, and over 100 performing horses, besides thirty-
two camels, etc. There is a tent in which the museum is placed, with gi-
ants, midgets, dwarfs, skeletons, fat people, armless and legless people, bearded
women, long-haired women, etc., and
others containing the international congress of giants, representing every
country on earth; the wonderful reproduction of Jumbo, the big
ivory-boned skeleton; Alice, Jumbo's
widow; a troop of Arabs, the Miramba
band. Another with three rings, an elevated stage and the great Roman hip-
podrome, with its glorious races and so
on. It requires seventy-nine railroad
cars to move all this material, including
two double menageries, with sixty-five
cages of rare birds, beasts and sidewy
reptiles, and thirty-three golden carved obelisks. The parade is a grand affair,
and will represent $1,500,000 worth of
valuable objects, covering over a mile of
ground, and will take place to-morrow
at 8 o'clock in the morning.
All Aboard.

A Card from the Duffy Malt Whiskey
Co.
BALTIMORE, Md., April 14, 1886.
To the Editor:—We have from time to
time, through the columns of your paper
as well as through the medium of the leading newspapers of this country, called attention to a simple and effective formula
for a large class of ailments which the
medical profession has intelligently
conceded, cannot be benefited permanently in any other way than through the medium of some article of the character of food. The remedy to which we refer is a preparation which can be prepared in
any household, the principal ingredients
being raw beefsteak and a specified quantity of Duffy's pure malt whiskey.
We expected through the circulation of
your paper and others in which our notices appeared, to get a large demand for
copies of this formula, and our expectations have not only been met to the fullest
degree, but exceeded our most sanguine expectations. During the first month
which have elapsed since the first notice
appeared, ten thousand invalids have
placed themselves in charge of our Medical Department; all these cases received
individual supervision, and the wonderful
results that have been obtained, including
in many cases a gain in weight equal to twenty-five pounds, and others of which
have appeared in the papers, has also led
to the use of this formula by thousands
with whom we are not in communication,
friends of our patients. The wonderful
success of this formula is due principally
to the peculiar properties of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. The range of action of
this remedy comprises all lung, stomach,
bowel affections and weakened conditions
of the nervous system.
The extraordinary growth of our business has made it necessary for us to make special arrangements to meet the inquiry and attend to the supervision of the thousands who are using our remedy, and we are anxious that no one suffering from any of the above ailments should fail to send to us for a copy of this formula,
which we will send with pleasure, and receive in return a two-cent stamp, and a receipt of a two-cent stamp, to pay address that may be requested. With the formula we furnish evidence of its value which causes Duffy's pure malt whiskey and formula to become at once an established household remedy.
We appreciate the fact that our measures of success is due to the interest manifested by your readers, and we desire that none who are afflicted from the diseases above referred to should remain unconscious of the fact that there is a simple and effective remedy that will restore health where disease has taken hold.
